THE trial of John H Surratt was commenced yesterday.

ONE encouraging item of intelligence is that the wheat crop in Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolina is very heavy.

THE Hartford (Ct.) Times says Mr. Davis gave "straw bail." We suppose the names on his bond are worth, on 'Change, many times the amount for which they are holden. Why not have some regard for facts?

THOSE among our citizens who have not visited the outlying districts this spring would be surprised to go about and see how many houses and buildings are going up. Notwithstanding the high prices several hundreds are erecting.

THE Syracuse Journal is authority for the statement that the story of Cole, which he told to justify his murder of Hiscock, is wholly false, and cannot be sustained by evidence; and that the story of Mrs. Cole about the will is false also.

GEN. SHERIDAN having inspected in person the streets of New Orleans and found many of them in very bad condition, ordered the Street Commissioner to have them cleansed, which he failed to do. Thereupon the General removed him.

AWHILE AGO, on the authority of Judge Carter, General Grant was declared willing to take a nomination for the Presidency in case it should be tendered him. He is now reported, with singular magnanimity, to prefer the elevation of Gen Sherman to his own.

THE murder of Colonel Riddle, in Philadelphia, by an Assessor of City Taxes, who was keeper of a drinking saloon, and kept his office in it, is bringing on a discussion relative to the whole system of assessing, which promises to end in rectifying some of the existing evils.

THE Democratic State Convention will be held to-day at Harrisburg. Telegrams affirm that Judge SHARSWOOD, of Philadelphia, will be nominated as the candidate for the Supreme Bench. He has the reputation of being a good lawyer, an upright magistrate, and an estimable citizen.

MR. M. A. HAWKS, of St. Paul, Minn., last fall insured his wife's life for the sum of five thousand dollars. She died suddenly, a few days after the policy had been taken out, and he was accused of having murdered her to obtain the amount on her life. No evidence whatever was adduced to fasten the charge, and the jury promptly acquitted him.

COLS. NAGLE and Warren, formerly of the Army of the Potomac, have been arrested as Fenians, at Dungannon, Ireland, by the British authorities. The former has been prominently recognized with the Fenian movements in this country, and is a brave, daring soldier, whose courage often gets the better of his caution, as exemplified in this case.

THE French and Russians vie with each other in expressions of joy and gladness over the escape from assassination of the Czar, or Napoleon, or both. In Paris several towns have been illuminated, while the resident Poles have presented Napoleon with an address condemning and detesting the act of their misguided fellow countryman. In Russia divine services of thanksgiving were held in the churches, public meetings convened and deputations dispatched to Paris to convey to the Czar their gratitude to God for his escape, and their detestation of the attempt on his life. The assassin, in the meanwhile, expresses no sorrow for his deed, and doubtless, only regrets that he failed in ridding the earth of the presence of the Czar.

THE Emperor of Austria and Empress were on Saturday last crowned as King and Queen of Hungary. The unusual and highly important ceremony was performed with much pomp and splendor at Pesth, which city was crowded with thousands of strangers, attracted from all parts of the world by the extraordinary novelty and interest of the occasion. The Bishops of the Catholic and Greek churches officiated, but they certainly could not have acted in harmony or conjunction with each other. All of the nations having diplomatic relations with Austria had representatives in attendance, excepting the United States, which, since the removal of Mr. Motley, has had no Minister in that country. General amnesty to all political prisoners was granted, and upon the whole the coronation was one of the most interesting and important ever witnessed in Europe.

IN his speech on the assassination of Mr. LINCOLN, Mr. WENDELL PHILLIPS said:

"What shall we say as to the punishment of Rebels? The air is thick with threats of vengeance. I admire the motive which prompts these. But let us remember that no cause, however infamous, was ever crushed by punishing its advocates and abettors. All history proves this. There is no class of men base and coward enough, no matter what their views and purposes, to make the policy of vengeance successful. In bad causes, as well as good, it is still true that 'the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church.' We cannot prevail against the principle of human nature. And again, with regard to the dozen chief Rebels, it will never be a practical question whether we shall hang them. Those not now in Europe will soon be there. Indeed, after paroling the bloodiest and guiltiest of all, Robert Lee—(loud applause)—there would be little fitness in hanging any lesser wretch. * * * * * Our rebellion has lasted four years. Government has exchanged prisoners and acknowledged its belligerent rights. After that, gibbets are out of the question. A thousand men rule the rebellion—are the rebellion. A thousand men. We cannot hang them all. We cannot hang men in regiments. What, cover the continent with gibbets! We cannot sicken the nineteenth century with such a sight. It would sink our civilization to the level of Southern barbarism. It would forfeit our very right to supercede the Southern system, which right is based on our's being better than theirs. To make its corner-stone the gibbet would degrade us to the level of Davis and Lee. The structure of government which bore the earthquake shock of 1861 with hardly a jar, and which now bears the assassination of its Chief Magistrate, in this crisis of civil war, with even less disturbance, needs for its safety, no such policy of vengeance; its serene strength needs and should use only so much severity as will fully guarantee security for the future."

The question now is not whether this philosophy of punishment for treason is sound or unsound. It is exactly the philosophy to which Mr. GREELEY holds, and which he illustrated in going bail for Mr. DAVIS. The fact is apparent that Mr. PHILLIPS has allowed his personal hatred of Mr. GREELEY to control him to such an extent as to sadly damage his character for manliness and honesty.

Horrible Murder in Scranton—The Murderer Still at Large.

Our city was startled yesterday forenoon by the announcement of the murder of Dr. John D. Durkin, a Lung and Throat Doctor, having his office in John Zeidler's new building. The Doctor was found about 10 o'clock A. M. in his room by Mr. G. H. Walters, who has an office on the same floor. When discovered he was lying on his bed room floor stiff and cold, with a little pool of blood near his head. He was in his night clothes and seemed to have fallen from the bed to the floor, or been placed there.

Alderman Say, acting Coroner, summoned the following persons to acts as a Jury of Inquest, viz: Lorenz Zeidler, Patrick Scanlon, Patrick McGovern, Phillip Fries, A. Sweeney, G. H. Walters.

The post-mortem examination was conducted by Drs. Squires, Boyle and Masser. The examination was most thorough and complete. There were found several bruises about the person of the deceased, but none that would produce death, except the contusion on the back part of the head, which was quite large and the skull laid bare. A stone, weighing about two pounds, was found near the bed with a few drops of blood on the smallest end. There was no particular evidence of a struggle to be seen about the room. The blow being on the back of the head, it is more than probable the wound was made by a person standing behind the Doctor, and the blow quite or nearly stunned him.

The hall door, which Mr. Zeidler himself fastened the night previous had been opened, the bolt being bent, and the catch sprung from its fastening. In order to do this it was necessary to spring the top and bottom bolts, and spring the door inward. It is supposed that the person committing the deed had either secreted himself in the building before the doors were locked, had a key to one of the back doors, or entered through a window in the lower story; then passing up to the Doctor's room, awakened him, gained admittance and then killed him. The door to his office was unlocked when found and the key inside.

The murder is supposed to have been committed between three and four o'clock in the morning, as the little girl sleeping in an adjoining room who heard the cry of "murder," says it was getting light in her room at the time. The night hand on the Register informs us that he left the office at three o'clock, and he saw a person with a lantern standing in front of Zeidler's building, and remained there when he passed into his boarding house.

The deceased is about forty-five to fifty years of age; is spare made and was not of a robust frame; quiet and inoffensive in his habits, and abstemious in his diet. It is supposed he had considerable money about him, but when discovered his watch (if he had one,) and money were missing, except four cents.

The Doctor, until last Thursday, had a Mr. John Thornton, living in one of the upper Wards, as an assistant in his office. He left him, and on the Monday following, Dr. Durkin wishing to visit Wilkes-Barre, he requested Mr. James O'Malla, living in the Third Ward, to attend his office during his absence, which he did. On Tuesday afternoon, the Doctor not returning, O'Malla gave the keys to Mr. Zeidler, and about five o'clock he started for his home.

The perpetrator of this cold-blooded murder is unknown and at large. Suspicions are directed to certain parties, but as yet no arrests have been made.—Scranton Register.

A Freak of the Blind God.

[From the Milwaukee Sentinel.]

Our readers will remember that a party of Scottish emigrants passed through this city the other day, en route for home in Minnesota. An incident of a somewhat romantic nature took place in connection with one of the families in the party, which we will relate, as it may interest our readers.

The family consisted of the father and mother and three daughters, the eldest a young lady of about eighteen years of age. This young lady had a face of extraordinary beauty, and a form of faultless symmetry. It was really a treat to look upon her. The family on arriving here about noon, put up at the Newhall House. The old gentleman sallied out after dinner to get a glimpse of Milwaukee and her citizens before pursuing his course any further Westward. He happened to encounter a young fellow-countryman, who had preceded him to this country about six years, and who is now engaged in business here. The two soon became acquainted, and were not long in becoming friends. After a long conversation the old gentleman invited his new found friend up to the rooms which the family were occupying. The invitation was accepted, and the young man formally introduced.

But, alas for him. Cupid had fired many a dart at his heart, but the missile fell harmlessly from him and he had remained unscathed. But a single glance from the sparkling, bewitching eyes of the young beauty, fairly staggered him, and from the moment of his introduction he was in love—so deeply and desperately in love, that his wits forsook him, and it was only by a desperate effort that he could regain his self-composure. Our bachelor friend supped with the family, and gradually he became more communicative. The hours of evening fled swiftly by. All the bachelor seemed to see was the dazzling beauty of the daughter—all he seemed to hear was her silvery voice or clear, ringing laughter.

At last the time for a separation came. The family was to leave the city on the morrow for Minnesota, and he must needs bid them adieu. But how could he bear to separate, perhaps forever, from the only woman he had ever loved, even for so short a time? He was at a loss, but quickly made up his mind as to his course of action. Calling the young lady aside he frankly told her of the passion with which she had inspired him, and entreated her, at least, to give his suit due consideration. The young lady answered by referring him to her father. That individual was very much astonished at the turn affairs had taken. He had not anticipated such a result. However, as his daughter appeared to be as much under the influence of the blind god as the young man, he promised to think over the matter and give his answer on the morrow.

At the earliest dawn he was up and around, and watched the proper time to call and learn his destiny, with the greatest impatience. At last he hurried to the old gentleman. He was received cordially, and presented to the young lady as her accepted husband, the father having learned that he bore the most irreproachable character. At this his joy knew no bounds, and he embraced and showered kiss after kiss upon his affianced bride, while she clung to him fondly.

But the family had to leave in the afternoon. As there was not much time to spare, they proceeded at once to the house of a clergyman and were made one flesh not more than twenty-four hours after their first meeting.

In the evening the parents parted from their daughter and newly found son-in-law, and started for the West, while the bride and bridegroom started for a brief tour to Niagara Falls and the Hudson. They will return in a few weeks to this city, and the bride will grace one of the most fashionable circles in the city by her beauty.

Curious Divorce Case.

We have heard the particulars of some rather novel proceedings in connection with a divorce case which might be worked up into quite a sensational story. As reported to us, some time last summer, a man who was of no particular use to his family when at home, being a drinking, vagabondish sort of a fellow, deserted his wife, to whose maintenance he had contributed little, and joined a circus company. Thereupon, his wife commenced proceedings for a divorce. In the fall, the circus having completed its swing around the circle, the husband came back to the city and lay about town for a month or two before venturing back to his old home, his wife protesting she would have nothing to do with him. In the course of time, however, the old feeling of love which had once led her to consent to be his bride, caused his wife to relent, and she received the husband, who made fair promises, to her bed and board again, and the parties continued to live peaceably together till a short time ago. Meantime the proceeding for a divorce went forward, and a bill was granted at the last term of court. This did not separate the parties, however, who continued to live together as husband and wife till a few days ago, when the husband having relapsed into his old bad habits, the divorced wife repulsed him from her bosom and her home and sent him adrift. It will be admitted she had borne with him longer than the law requires or even allows.—Madison (Wis) Journal, June 4th.

THE HUNGARIAN CORONATION—GRAND DEMONSTRATION—THE LIKE NOT WITNESSED FOR CENTURIES.

PESTH, June 8.—The Emperor and Empress of Austria were to-day crowned King and Queen of Hungary, with mediaeval pomp and splendor. The city was crowded with visitors from all parts of the world, and splendidly decorated ambassadors of all the nations having diplomatic relations with Austria, except the United States, were present. The coronation took place at Ofen, across the river Danube, and the concluding rites in this city. Eight thousand Hungarian and Austrian nobles, six hundred peers, one hundred diplomatists, and one thousand strangers witnessed the coronation. The scene was magnificent. The Bishops of the Catholic and Greek Church assisted at the ceremony, and the costumes displayed were gorgeous. The Emperor was annointed in ancient robes, the crown, mantle and shoes of St. Stephen, the first Christian King of Hungary. The Empress was annointed under the right arm pit. The special Mass, sung by the Imperial Choir from Vienna, was composed by Listz. After the coronation, the King knighted several Hungarians, and then rode in person to Pesth, where he took the oath, in which he promised to reconquer the ancient limits of Hungary. Nothing like this has been witnessed for centuries, and in all probability will never be repeated.

The coronation ceremonies closed by the King riding up to a mound of earth, formed of soil brought from the different departments of Hungary, and waving his sword at the four points of the compass, at the same time solemnly swearing he would defend the kingdom against the world. There was immense cheering during the rites. There will be a grand illumination and banquet to-night. At the banquet peers will act as servants.

The Hungarian Diet voted 100,000 ducats as a present to the King and Queen. The greatest excitement and enthusiasm was displayed. Ten Arch-Dukes were present. The Austrian Prime Minister, Van Beust, was conspicuous. Mons. Deako was absent. M. Andrassy crowned the King and Queen. A general amnesty for all political offences has been proclaimed.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 10, 1867.

TRIAL OF SURRATT—DIFFICULTY ABOUT JURORS—RECESS TILL TO-DAY.

The trial of Surratt commenced to-day. The Criminal Court room was crowded. Judge Fisher took his seat at 9:50, and the Court was formally opened. At ten o'clock the jurors were called, all but four answering to their names. The prisoner was brought in at half past ten o'clock, his hand-cuffs taken off, and assigned a seat beside his counsel. Surratt's face was very pale, and he wears a careworn, troubled look, but faintly smiled occasionally as he received the nod of an acquaintance. After sitting in the Court room for some time he engaged in a lively conversation with his counsel, Mr. Merrick, and was evidently much amused, as he laughed heartily. After all the preliminaries Judge Fisher asked if counsel were ready to proceed. Mr. Bradley replied: "The prisoner is ready and has been so for weeks." District Attorney Carrington said the prosecution were ready to proceed.

Before proceeding to impannel a jury, however, the prosecuting attorney desired to submit a motion to quash the whole panel of jurymen, as not drawn according to law, and for the reason that the names from which the said jurymen were drawn were not selected according to law. Mr. Carrington read an affidavit of Samuel E. Douglass, Register of Washington, stating that about the 1st day of February, he deposited in the box required to be kept in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, four hundred names, each name being written on a separate piece of paper, and each paper being rolled up, as part of the names from which jurors were to be selected under the provisions of the act of Congress of June 16th, 1862; that at the same time the Clerk of the Levy Court deposited forty names, and the Clerk of Georgetown deposited forty names in the box; that the names deposited, by this affiant, were selected partly from the poll list of Washington City and partly from names of citizens who he thought were well qualified to serve as jurymen; that the names of the persons so selected, by this affiant, as Register, were not communicated by him to the Clerk of Georgetown, or the Clerk of the Levy Court, nor did they at any time know of the names selected by affiant, nor did this affiant know at any time of the names of those selected by said Clerk of Georgetown, nor by the Clerk of the Levy Court; that the names having been deposited, the aforesaid box was returned to the Clerk of the Court of the District of Columbia, and by said Clerk sealed, as affiant believes, in the presence of the affiant; that the petit jurors for the March term for the Criminal Court of 1867, were selected or drawn from names deposited in the same box, on said First day of February, and drawn by the Clerk of Georgetown; as this affiant recollects and believes the names were deposited in the manner herein before stated, and if it appears that any of the names for Washington, deposited as aforesaid, are in the hand writing of any person other than this affiant, or his Clerk, the same were deposited without the knowledge or consent of this affiant; and further this affiant says the paper or papers containing the names of the persons whose names are written on said four-hundred pieces of paper, and deposited as aforesaid, he cannot find, though he made diligent search for the same.

Mr. Carrington read the act of June 16th, 1862, relative to impannelling juries in the District of Columbia. The law requires the jury shall be selected by the Register of Washington and Clerks of Georgetown and Levy Court, acting conjointly; that they shall in the presence of said officers, be deposited in boxes, and said boxes sealed by the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Carrington argued the affidavit of Mr. Douglass showed that the names had not been regularly deposited, and contended that if the trial proceeded and a verdict was rendered by the jury thus impanneled the proceedings would be illegal. There need, however, be no delay, for, by the fifth section of the act of June, 1862, the court could proceed at once to impannel another jury. The Court has plenary power to proceed in the matter, and the Marshal may be ordered to summon talismen.

At Mr. Bradley's request, Mr. Douglas was sworn and testified to the truth of his affidavit.

Mr. Bradley moved for a recess to allow time to examine the law to see if they could go to trial with the jury now impanneled.

No objection being made, Court granted the application, for a recess until to-morrow, and the prisoner was remanded to jail.

GOV. WELLS TELEGRAPHS THE PRESIDENT.

Upon receiving General Sheridan's order removing him, Governor Wells sent a telegraphic message to the President, protesting against this usurpation of power. He declares his removal was in consequence of a personal quarrel with the General, and not because he was impeding the execution of the laws of Congress. He also wrote a letter to General Sheridan, in which he denies the charges made against him, and denounced them as malicious slanders. He charges General Sheridan with having abused the powers conferred upon him, and having appointed rebels to office, and insinuates that he skulked during the riots in July. In conclusion, he calls upon General Sheridan to substantiate his accusations by proof, or be prepared to face the verdict which the public always pronounces against malicious slanderers.

SHERIDAN'S REMOVAL.

The Cabinet is said to be about equally divided on the subject of General Sheridan's removal in New Orleans. It is supposed the question will be taken up at the next meeting.

FROM MEXICO.

Maximilian and His Officers—Gen. Mendez and Maximilian's Body Guard Commander Shot—The French Officers Missing—Maximilian Ill—An American Lady, Wife of Prince Salm-Salm, Interceding With Juarez.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A special to the New York Herald from Queretaro, May 26th, states that no disposition has yet been made of Maximilian and the bulk of four hundred and fifty officers captured with him. Gen. Mendez was shot on Sunday. Escobedo had issued an order that all officers hiding, who did not surrender in twenty-four hours, would be summarily shot. When captured, Mendez did not give himself up. He was captured on Saturday night and shot early Sunday morning in the public park. He met his fate like a brave man. Col. Compas, commander of Maximilian's body guard, who attempted to escape with 4,000 men when the surrender took place, was also shot. No other executions are known, though many are suspected. All the French officers are missing. The principal prisoners are confined together in a church in very indifferent quarters, without beds or any toilet conveniences requisite. Maximilian still continues ill of dysentery.

The wife of Prince Salm Salm, an American lady, closely related to President Johnson, had made her way, alone, to President Juarez at San Luis to intercede for her husband's life, and that of the Emperor. This lady has sped so far in her brave mission that yesterday, on her arrival here from San Luis, she, the Emperor, and Prince Salm Salm had a long interview with Escobedo, and I have reason to believe terms will be arranged by which the lives of most of the foreigners will be spared.

Miramon it is expected will die of the wound he received in trying to show fight on the day the city was betrayed.

Report says Gen. Lopez, who let the Liberal troops into the city, received three thousand gold ounces for his treachery. The surprise was complete. Everything was taken and not one of the prominent chiefs escaped. Scarcely fifty houses were destroyed. Most of the troops have gone on to the city of Mexico, but Escobedo and a strong garrison still remain in the city. The roads are in a terrible state from robbers and murderers.

What Maximilian Said When He Surrendered—His Court Martial Ordered—List of Officers Captured—Proclamation of Maximilian—He Denounces Napoleon—His Dying Words.

NEW ORLEANS, June 10.—Mexican advices to the twenty-second have been received. Miramon is still dangerously ill from his wound.

When Maximilian gave up his sword to Escobedo, he said: "I surrender to you my sword owing to an infamous treason, without which to-morrow's sun would have seen yours in my hand."

Escobedo had ordered a court martial to assemble on the 25th, for the trial of the Emperor.

Maximilian has sent through Gen. Diaz a telegram to the Prussian Minister, in the city of Mexico, to obtain the services of Marino Riva Puebico and the licentiate Mantazzie De La Tari, to defend him.

The following is the official list of the officers made prisoners at Queretaro: Gens. Miramon, Mejia, Castillo, Cassandra, Herrera, Feliciana, Magaro, Reis, Maret, Monterde, Calco, Valdez, Escobel and Ramerez; total, 14. Also, Colonels, 18; Lieutenant Colonels, 15; Captains and Brevet Lieutenant Colonels, 16; Majors, 36; Captains, 114; Lieutenants, 116; Second Lieutenants, 108; total, 437.

The following proclamation has been issued by Maximilian:

COUNTRYMEN: After the valor and patriotism of the Republican forces have destroyed my sceptre in this place, of which a tenacious defense was indispensable to save the honor of my cause and of my race, after the bloody siege in which the Imperial and Republican soldiers have compelled an abnegation and boldness, I will explain myself. Countrymen, I came to Mexico not only animated with the best faith of insuring the felicity of all of us, but called and protected by the Emperor of France, Napoleon the Third. He, to the ridicule of France, abandoned me cowardly and infamously, by demand of the United States, after having uselessly spent her forces and treasure, and shed the blood of her sons and your own. When the news of my fall and death reaches Europe, all the monarchs of Charlemagne's country will demand of the Napoleonic dynasty an account of my blood, of the German, and the French blood shed in Mexico. Then will Napoleon III. be covered with shame from head to foot. To-day he has already seen his majesty, the Emperor of Austria, my august brother, praying for my life to the United States, and myself a prisoner of war in the hands of the republican government, and with my crown and my head torn in pieces. Countrymen, here are my last words. I desire that my blood may regenerate Mexico, and serve as a warning to all ambitious and incautious Princes, and that you will act with prudence and truthfulness, and ennoble with your virtues the political cause of the flag you sustain. May Providence save you and make you worthy of myself.

[Signed] MAXIMILIAN.

NEW ORLEANS, June 10.—The following intelligence was received via. Havana:

Tampico, May 30.—General Gomez still holds out, having pronounced against Juarez and in favor of Ortega.

On the morning of the 14th inst., a portion of the garrison revolted in favor of Juarez, when a fight ensued in the streets, lasting five hours. The revolting party was finally put to flight. Some of them took refuge on board the United States steamer Yantic and merchant vessels in port, and many were shot while seeking a place of safety. The forces of Juarez are drawing their lines around this place, and there will probably be a battle soon.

An awful tragedy took place last night. On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alfred King, residing at No. 30 East Nineteenth street, retired to their sleeping apartment, and as they did not make their appearance in the morning, the servant proceeded to the room, and there beheld the husband and wife lying dead on the bed, which was covered with blood. Suicide of a Banker by Hanging—The Philadelphia Excursionists—"Magoozler" of Pittsburgh Wins a Race—Murderer Arrested.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—B. M. Runyan's (a prominent banker) death last night was by suicide, having hung himself in his own house, while the family were at church.

The reported death of Samuel B. Wiggins, another of our old citizens, and founder of the Wiggins Ferry, is untrue. Mr. Wiggins has been sick some time, but is better tonight.

The Philadelphia excursionists did not go to the Iron mountain to-day as anticipated, but started this afternoon for Chicago, where they will remain one day and then proceed East.

Baptist Association.

The Pittsburgh Baptist Association held its twenty-eighth annual meeting in the Union Baptist Church, Grant street, this city, commencing on Saturday last and concluding yesterday. The attendance of delegates was large, thirty churches being represented. The introductory sermon was delivered by Rev. J. S. Dickerson, of the First Baptist Church of this city.

An election for Moderator and Clerk for the ensuing year was held. Rev. Jas. Dickerson was elected Moderator, and Rev. O. P. Hargrave, Clerk.

After hearing the reports of the various committees, the usual standing committees for the ensuing year were appointed.

Association adjourned to meet Monday morning at nine o'clock.

PROCEEDINGS ON MONDAY.

At nine o'clock A. M., after an hour's devotional exercises, the Moderator called the session to order. The hymn beginning was sung, and the Rev. Mr. Hill, of Pittsburgh, offered prayer.

"I love thy kingdom Lord,"

The Committee on the place of holding the next anniversary, reported in favor of McKeesport.

The Committee on the state of the country, reported patriotic resolutions and commended the Freedmen's claims upon the churches and a free Gospel for knowledge.

The time from half-past 10, until adjournment, was taken up in listening to the claims of various benevolent organizations. The Rev. W. Amber spoke for Foreign Missions, the Rev. W. Beck for Pennsylvania Missions, the Rev. W. Dimock for the Bible Society, the Rev. W. Kelly for the Lewisburgh University, the Rev. W. Spratt for the Pennsylvania Education Society, and the Rev. James S. Dickerson, of this city, for the American Bible Union, for translating and circulating pure versions of the Bible, in our own and foreign languages.

After prayer by Rev. W. Spratt, the session adjourned till 2 P. M.

CLOSING SESSION.

At two o'clock, the presiding officer took the chair and read the hymn

"O'er the gloomy hills of darkness," after the singing of which prayer was offered. Several items of business were transacted and several committees rendered their reports, the most important of which, and that which attracted the most attention, was one on the condition and prospects of the "Western Pennsylvania Baptist Book Association," having its depository at No. 11 Fifth street, in this city. The report was quite hopeful as to past results, but important and leading clergymen declared that its work must cease unless its capital was increased. Strong resolutions in its favor were adopted and a collection and subscription in its behalf was taken on the spot amounting to over one thousand dollars. Various gentlemen were also appointed to present its claims to the various churches in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio. We judged that the laity had this project under their special charge, the speeches and the money being largely of their contribution. Messrs. Loweridge, Fahnestock, Reese, Huskinson, Everson, and others of this city, together with gentlemen of this and other places, with whose faces or names we were not familiar, were evidently in earnest as to the success of a Baptist book depository in Pittsburgh.

After resolutions of thanks for the hospitalities of our city, and a short closing address from Mr. Dickeson, the Moderator, the Association adjourned to meet in McKeesport.

Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Manchester Passenger Railway Company.

The present administration of this Company is certainly more vigorous and efficient than any that have preceded it.

Within a few months the Troy Hill branch with a double track has been completed and well furnished with Railway stock. An additional track on Beaver street, Manchester, has recently been laid down; elegant new double end coaches have been placed on the Rebecca street route; the entire track on this route has been overhauled and the cars improved. The cars on both this and the upper route now extend to the stables of the Company at the lower end of Manchester. Over the main trunk line, cars now pass at intervals of two minutes, and will not exceed ten minutes on any of the branches.

It is alleged that the facility of access afforded by this road and branches to an extensive district in the eastern and also in the western end of Allegheny, has increased the value of real estate and rents enormously; and, moreover, that while population is drawn from the city to the suburbs, suburban population is attracted in constantly increasing numbers to the city dealers for their supplies.

We believe it is owing to the severe terms imposed by the city authorities for right of way that the Manchester Company has not extended a line of track from Pasture Lane on the west, and East Lane on the east, via Federal street and the suspension bridge. Such a line would greatly accommodate the large population residing north of the Commons, and it is so much needed as to suggest the expediency of such legislation by the City Councils as would impose a moderate tax on each car in lieu of the obligation of the company to keep all the streets in repair over which its road is laid.

Whatever opinions were once entertained about street cars, all agree now that they subserve many uses, and cannot and will not be dispensed with. No city needs them more than Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the adjacent boroughs, and yet we are far behind Philadelphia in this kind of public conveyances. If such management as has characterized the Manchester, the Citizens and the Birmingham Companies, can be secured, we say, let the companies be multiplied, or what might be better, let the companies named be authorized to build branches until the public wants are satisfied.

Knightly Tournament at Oakland Park—Chivalry Revived.

An interesting entertainment took place yesterday at Oakland Park, in the way of a tournament, held by the colored citizens of this vicinity. Printer Killed.

Alexander D. Kelly, a deaf and dumb printer, was killed on Thursday evening last, a short distance below West Wheeling, on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad. He was walking along the track when the down passenger train came along, and the engineer whistled to warn him of his danger, but of course being deaf, he could not hear him, and before the train could be stopped, he was knocked down, and instantly killed, the whole train passing over him. Both legs were cut off and the body was terribly mangled. The remains were taken to Bellaire, and an inquest held. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, fully exonerating the railroad company from all blame. The remains were buried at Bellaire on Friday. The deceased came to this city nearly two months ago from Washington City. He worked a short time in the Advocate office, then went to Wheeling, and was engaged in the job office connected with the Wheeling Register at the time of his death. The deceased was from Georgetown, Kentucky, where he has a father now living.

Died Suddenly.

Lenhardt Schaffner, of the Ninth ward, died suddenly at his residence Monday morning, under circumstances which rendered an inquest necessary. He was in full health the previous evening, and nothing seemed amiss with him at the time of retiring to bed. At about four o'clock Monday morning his wife was awakened by her husband struggling beside her. She immediately arose and rendered him every attention, but he seemed to be choking, and in a very short time expired. Coroner Clawson held an inquest and a verdict of death from apoplexy was rendered. The deceased was forty-two years of age and leaves a wife and family. He was formerly a saloon keeper, but at the time of his death resided on Penn street, near Clymer. He had insured his life for $2,000. It was his purpose to leave for Germany on Thursday next to take possession of a large amount of money left him recently by the decease of a relative.

False Pretense.

John Smith, a colored gentleman, who is a whitewasher by profession, was arrested yesterday, on a warrant issued by Alderman McMasters, on oath of Wm. Burke, jr., charging Smith with obtaining money under false pretence. Mr. Burke is of the firm of Burke & Glass, painters and glaziers, Wylie street, and he alleges that Smith came to their establishment and represented that he was doing work for Mr. Burke's mother, and wanted some paints, which were given to him, to the amount of thirteen dollars, he, Smith, promising to pay for them as soon as the work was completed. Smith, not making his appearance at the time appointed, Mr. Burke made inquiry of his mother about the matter, who said she knew nothing about the man Smith, and that he had not been doing any work for her. He was held for a hearing to-day.

For the Penitentiary.—Sam'l W. Boyd, Sheriff of Fayette county, arrived in the city yesterday morning, having in charge four convicts for the Western Penitentiary, who were convicted at the last term of the Fayette County Court. Thomas Hirshman and George Jacobs were convicted of horse stealing and sentenced to ten years each. Joseph Robbins, who was found guilty of highway robbery, went for five years. Angeline Beaty, convicted of larceny, was sent for one year.

Convention of German Catholic Benevolent Societies.

The twelfth annual Convention of the German Roman Catholic Central Verein commenced its session yesterday morning, at St. Philomena Hall, corner of Penn and Factory streets, in this city.

At eight o'clock the delegates assembled in St. Philomena's Church, wherein High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Schoenfens, O. S. S. R., assisted by two Fathers of the same Order. A sermon was preached by Rev. A. Schwenninger, of Cincinnati. After divine service in the church, the delegates marched in procession to St. Philomena Hall, when the first session of the Convention was opened by the President of the Central Verein, Mr. John Amend, of St. Louis.

The opening address was delivered by Rev. Father John Stibiel, Vicar General of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, who was followed by other gentlemen. The speakers admonished the hearers to adhere firmly to the benevolent principles and teachings laid down in their Constitution, and enunciated in former revelations. The morning service was occupied by interesting speeches until twelve o'clock, when the body adjourned till two o'clock P. M.

At the appointed hour in the afternoon the Convention re-assembled, and the business was begun by the examination of credentials of delegates, about eighty of whom, representing societies from all parts of the Union, took their seats.

Committees were then appointed upon the several branches of business, when the Convention adjourned to meet on Tuesday morning at eight o'clock.

After the usual religious services this morning the body will proceed to the transaction of such business as may be brought before it. The greatest harmony prevailed during the session of yesterday.

We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement which appears in another column of the well known and extensive plumbers, gas and steam fitters, Messrs. These gentlemen are practical and experienced mechanics, who have won a large share of public patronage by carefully performing all work entrusted to them in such a manner as to give the highest satisfaction. Their stock of materials cannot be surpassed, either in quality or quantity, by that found in any similar house in Western Pennsylvania. Possessing unusual facilities for the purchase of goods, they are enabled to successfully compete with eastern dealers in prices, and can offer rare good bargains to the customers who favor them with patronage. Yesterday we had the pleasure of being shown through their commodious sales rooms, and of examining the fine assortment of articles peculiar to the business found there. Still Another One.

While at Mellor's on Saturday we learned that he has just disposed of another one of those charming Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs, whose beauties we have so often spoken of in our columns. It goes to the residence of one of our esteemed citizens, and will no doubt discourse sweet melodies to many admiring citizens. It is of the largest size, possessing two banks of keys, eight draw stops, and four complete sets of reeds or vibrators, ranging in tone from the lowest sound of the horn to the sweetest accent of the flute. It is also provided with Mason & Hamlin's tremolo stop, by which the reeds are made to produce sounds like the strains of an impassioned human voice. We congratulate the possessor on having so perfect an instrument. This style, with two banks of keys, is fast coming into general use, as on it the finest organ effects can be produced. Mr. Mellor has disposed of this style of instruments to J. K. Morange, Esq., W. N. Ogden, Esq., Thomas Bakewell, Esq., J. B. Jackson, Esq., Rev. G. A. Lowman, C. J. Albright, Esq., Dr. Gamble and others.

Leg Broken.

B. F. Timberly, cook on the canal boat Ella, on the Pittsburgh and Erie Canal, had his leg broken on Tuesday last. The boat was lying near Connoquenessing, and some of the hands were turning the capstan, when the cook, in passing across the deck, was caught by the rope and drawn against the capstan, breaking his leg as stated. He was brought to the city, together with his sister, by the boat Resolute, reaching here yesterday morning at an early hour. A spring wagon was engaged to carry the wounded man from the place of landing, near the Mechanics street bridge, to his lodging in the rear of the Scott House. The injured man is under the care of Dr. McKain, and is said to be in a fair way to recover.

Fight in Allegheny.

On Saturday night, about nine o'clock the peace and quietness of our sister city was disturbed by a regular row at the corner of Federal and Lacock streets. The parties were two soldiers and two street loafers, who are generally lounging about that corner. The soldiers were quietly passing down street when they were attacked by these ruffians, who must have mistaken their men, as they were considerably demoralized. One of the soldiers received a severe cut below the right eye, which bled profusely, completely covering his clothes with blood. The fight lasted for several minutes, but before the police arrived the parties were out of reach, consequently no arrests were made.

Bathing in the Basin.

Several boys were discovered Sunday afternoon swimming in the upper basin, at the head of Cliff street. The police were notified of the fact, and visited the place for the purpose of arresting the young rascals, but succeeded in only catching one of them, named Morris Gallagher, who is at present in the lock-up awaiting a hearing. This intelligence will doubtless be refreshing to our citizens of the Seventh ward, and we presume patent filterers and an extra supply of ice will be required should this practice be continued. The young culprit should be dealt with severely, and an example made that will deter all youngsters from using our drinking water for bathing purposes.

State Medical Society.

The State Medical Society of Pennsylvania will hold its eighteenth annual meeting in Lafayette Hall, Wood street, at four o'clock P. M., to-morrow. The doors will be open to the public during its re-union, and all are invited to attend. Dr. James King, of this city, president of the meeting, will deliver the annual address, in the afternoon.

The entertainment in the evening, the promenade concert and soiree, will be a brilliant affair. Guests will be admitted by the Fourth street entrance, where ladies will find a reception room, with waiters in attendance.

Runaway.—Yesterday afternoon a horse attached to a spring wagon, standing near the Grain Elevator, on Liberty street, which had been carelessly left by the driver, took fright and ran up the street at a fearful rate until he arrived opposite the St. James Hotel, where he came in contact with a one horse vehicle, which put a stop to his wild career. The wagon to which he was attached was thrown completely over, and he pulled up on the pavement in front of the St. James, with his head to the wagon, entirely free from the harness. No damage was done to anything save the harness, which appeared to be in quite a number of pieces.

Cross Suits.—Elizabeth Gritter made information before Alderman McMasters against Ann Shirr, charging her with assault and battery, and surety of the peace, and the defendant, made information before the same official, charging Elizabeth Gritter with a like offence. The parties are neighbors and reside on Fosner alley, in the Tenth ward, and as neighbors sometimes do, got into a quarrel which resulted in a general fight, in which both were considerably scratched and bruised. Warrants were issued in both cases, and the parties arrested and held to bail.

Church Home Locust Grove Strawberry Festival.—The usual Annual Festival in aid of this most excellent charity will be held on Thursday afternoon and evening, at Locust Grove. The immense numbers who have patronized these festivals on former occasions have evinced the general appreciation and sympathy for the lady managers and their noble work. If the outpouring of the people on Thursday shall prove equal to that of last year, many blessings and comforts will be secured to the Church Home widows and orphans.

Malicious Mischief.—Thos. Goodman made information before Alderman Morrow against Andrew Sweeny, charging him with malicious mischief. The parties are cartmen, and Goodman alleges that while his cart was standing on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday, the defendant maliciously "run into him," upsetting his cart and breaking a shaft. A warrant was issued for Sweeny, who was arrested and held for a hearing.

Died at the Hospital.—Timothy Carr, who was injured on the Pennsylvania Railroad, on Liberty street, last week, both his legs being terribly crushed, died at the Mercy Hospital on Sunday evening. Coroner Clawson impannelled a jury and will conclude the inquest to-day. Deceased was twenty-eight years of age and unmarried.

Seriously Injured.

Capt Irish was seriously injured yesterday, at Oakland Park, by being run over by a horse. He was watching the sports, at the Negro Tournament, and in attempting to cross the track was struck by a horse of one of the "Black Knights," who was riding at full speed. The horse fell and turned over two or three times, throwing his rider a distance of fifteen feet, who, strange to say, was not injured. The Captain's jaw was broken, and he also received severe internal injuries. His brother, Dr Irish, and Drs. Cowley and Dake were present, and attended to his injuries, rendering him all the service they could under the circumstances. He was for the time carried to the house of Mr. Vanvoorhis, proprietor of the Park, and afterwards removed to his house. His injuries, although serious, it is hoped will not prove fatal.

Committed.—Agatha Rau appeared before Justice M. RIGHTS OF THE BLACKS.

A colored Bishop, at a recent Republican Convention in New Orleans, made a speech so sound in tone and doctrine as to be deserving of special commendation. He administered excellent advice to those of his own race, urging them to moderation in their demands, to forgetfulness of past injuries, to good-will towards the whites, to temperance and orderliness in their social habits, to industry in the pursuit of their proper callings, to frugality in expenditures, and to earnestness in the acquisition of learning.

On this latter head only did he venture a suggestion that could awaken controversy even in New Orleans. He spoke strongly in favor of a common school system, to be supported by a general tax upon the property of all the inhabitants, and intimated that under such a system the children of black parents would have equal rights with the children of white ones. That he had the inherent equities of the case on his side cannot well be questioned. It would appear plain enough, as an abstract proposition, that what is bought at the common expense, must be held for the common use of all. This proposition has special cogency in a community where the population is about equally divided between the two races, and where each race is taxed upon many millions of property. But it may be questionable whether the best way to get immediately an efficient common school system in Louisiana lies through the enforcement of this proposition.

What education, in the technical sense, we received, was got in common schools, where no distinction was made between whites and blacks. Black citizens were voters, and the two races shared in common what the common purse supplied. Nor was there a distinction of white classes and black classes. Children of both colors mixed in the same forms indoors, and on the same play-grounds out-doors. They may have caught the measles of each other; but we think nothing worse. That was in the early days of democracy, before it became effete and conservative.

The demand to mix the two races in private schools rests upon an entirely different basis, and can be sustained only dogmatically. A good deal of nonsense was recently written and printed on this subject in consequence of a case that happened in the Female College of this city. Mr. TILTON, of New York, who is more celebrated for dialetic subtlety than for keen discrimination—for brilliant rhetoric than for sound sense—for vehement declamation than for accuracy of statement—wrought himself up into a frenzy of vituperation. To us it seemed plain that what was bought with private money was for private use; that if private individuals founded a seminary of learning, with their own money, they had the same right to determine what should be taught therein and who should be taught, as each of the contributors had to decide what persons he would invite to dinner at his own house, and what viands he would have prepared and set before them. If any parent applies for the admission of his child to such a school, and gets refused, he has no more right to demand a reason of the managers than a lady who has fished for an invitation to her neighbor's party, and and failed to get it, is at liberty to demand why she was overlooked. It makes no difference whether the dissatisfied parent is white or black. Social rights and courtesies are not determinable by act of Congress or the General Assembly. If Mr. TILTON and other gentlemen see proper to educate their daughters in a private school, in company with black girls, that is their privilege, provided they build and endow the school; but it is sheer impertinence for them to insist that gentlemen whose tastes lead them to adopt a different plan shall not do as they will with their own.

This natural and inherent distinction between what is public and what is private is ordinarily understood well enough. But just now there is a tendency on the part of some leaders of opinion to ignore it, that makes the assertion and maintenance of it a matter of prudence.

Doubtless, the time will come upon the earth, even as in heaven, when men and women will be rated for what they are intrinsically worth; when social distinctions will not depend on the amount of money a man has, nor the lawful business he follows, nor upon his place of birth, nor upon his color, nor upon any other immaterial peculiarity. But we can conceive of no possible contingency in which all men will be under obligations to associate socially with all other men. That would be decidedly too much of a thing, whether good or bad. There is, and can be, no other rule in social life than to allow intercourse to be regulated by elective affinity; that is, to let those who are conscious of congeniality with each other, associate to such a degree and on such terms as they shall find mutually satisfactory.

HARPER'S NEW CYCLOPEDIA.

There is evidently a disposition in these stirring times to discard the use of dry, tedious writings upon theological and scientific subjects, and prefer works of reference, such as Cyclopedias, Dictionaries, and others, alphabetically arranged. For this reason, publications of this sort are becoming more and more popular on almost every branch of knowledge. By the publication of the "Penny Cyclopedia," and that of "Appleton's," scientific and valuable information has been widely disseminated. This new Cyclopedia, prepared by Drs. McClintock and Strong, seeks to accomplish the same mission for religious knowledge. Cyclopedias usually pass over these matters very cursorily, but this volume treats such subjects as they deserve.

The scope of the work is very comprehensive, and it is believed more so than any other extant. The contents take in a wide range of subjects. In the department of Biblical Literature, are every proper name, place, Scripture word, animal, plant, mineral, alluded to in the Bible; general Biblical topics, noted manuscripts, Oriental language, and Rabbinical subjects. The Theological part embraces the doctrines of Christianity, treats of every Ecclesiastical body, with a history of the heresies, controversies and all non-Christian religions. Religious Biography embraces sketches of every branch of the Church. This department is treated with great completeness, fullness, and accuracy. Part third, on Church History, gives a full account of the rise, progress and present condition of the Church; and the Ecclesiastical Statistics of every Church and country.

From this brief outline of its contents, will be seen the magnitude of the undertaking and the immense labor it required to prepare it. Embracing all the research of modern times, and of the publications of merit on these topics, the value of this Cyclopedia cannot fail to impress every one. The labors of thousands of investigations, and the wealth of whole libraries, are also all concentrated, digested, systematized and prepared for the reader. The whole is wrought out in a scholarly and scientific manner. Everything has been carefully revised, and a very large proportion of the articles are either wholly or in most important parts original. The department of Theological and Ecclesiastical literature, has been under the supervision of Rev. Dr. MCCLINTOCK, a distinguished writer and scholar, who was for several years pastor of the American Chapel in Paris, where he did valuable service in showing the English and French the true issues of the rebellion. Dr. Strong who had exclusive charge of the department of Biblical Literature, has long had the reputation of being one of the finest scholars of the day. As the author of a work entitled "Harmony and Expositions of the Gospel," he has attained a wide popularity. The theological views of the editors are so carefully guarded, that according to the testimony of those entertaining different doctrinal views, there is nothing of the sort to be detected in this initial volume. Among the leading contributors, are Professor George F. Comfort, on Christian Art and Archæology; Rev. Dr. Holdich, on Bible Societies; Rev. George Lansing Taylor, Dr. Harbaugh, Rev. Dr. O. H. Tiffany, Professor A. J. Schem, on biographical and miscellaneous topics.

The work will embrace six volumes of a thousand pages each, royal octavo, and the whole copiously illustrated. The first volume—just out—comprises A. and B., and has three hundred and seventy wood cuts. Its index presents an array of 3,916 titles, alphabetically arranged. It is printed on fine paper. The text is handsomely illustrated, valuable maps are supplied, and in a word, the vast resources of those princely publishers have been lavishly bestowed, to render this Cyclopedia every way deserving of extensive patronage. The book is sold by subscription alone. Cloth, $5 per volume; in sheep, $6; in half morocco, $8. The publishers have appointed Rev. Robert Hopkins, a well known minister in this county, agent for Western Pennsylvania, who is worthy of confidence. Subscriptions are received by J. L. Read, Bookseller, Wood street, near Fourth.

CITY SUPERINTENDENT.

The Board of School Directors for this city have decided to elect a City Superintendent, at half-past seven o'clock, on Thursday evening next, at the Third Ward School House. The Commercial urges that in view of the Consolidation movement it will be well to postpone this election.

We think our neighbor misapprehends the case in some important particulars. The Act of 1855 consolidated the wards of Pittsburgh, as they then were, for school purposes. The Consolidation Act, passed at the last session, is silent on the subject of schools, and only refers to property in school houses, (sections 52 and 54,) to provide that it shall not be transferred to the city. We apprehend, therefore, that until farther legislation shall be obtained, whatever else may be Consolidated, the School districts of the other municipalities will not be conjoined with those of Pittsburgh as now existing. It may be, if Consolidation shall carry, that the Schools will be brought under the control of a single Board, but that is a matter to be determined hereafter.

The new School Law, passed at the last session, enacts that no person shall hereafter be eligible to the office of Superintendent who does not possess a diploma from a college legally empowered to grant literary degrees, a diploma or State certificate, issued according to law, by the authorities of a State Normal School, a professional certificate from a county, city or borough Superintendent of good standing, issued at least one year prior to the election, or a certificate of competency from the State Superintendent. The meaning of this is that no man shall be chosen Superintendent who is not well educated, and so competent for the duties of the place.

We shall not undertake to say whether the choice shall be made now or postponed, but we do say it is of the greatest importance whenever the election shall be made, that a man suitably qualified be put into the position.

FARM, GARDEN AND ORCHARD.

June.

June is the month of greatest summer beauty, for now the trees put on their freshest robes of green. Coleridge calls it "the leafy month of June." Along with the foliage the flowers come out in their loveliness. The conical bloom of the chestnut, the pedant flowers of the locust and the snow-balls of the guelder rose, stand in beautiful contrast to each other. The forests are now clothed with brilliant verdure and the prairies sparkle with flower-gems. June is the month of roses, for it is then they come forth in all their beauty and fragrance, and repay the careful cultrist with a profusion of bloom. To a lover of nature's charms June is a month of rare delight.

Beautifying the Homestead.

When a rural homestead has been beautified by the proper arrangement of fruit and shade trees, evergreen shrubs and flowers, how joyous seem the leaves and flowers of June. The variegated blossoms of the orchard give promise of an abundant supply of fruit, and nature seems to delight in assisting art to make everything useful as well as ornamental. The ancient Romans considered June the most propitious month for great undertakings, and matrimonial engagements were generally completed in June, May being especially avoided, as under the influence of spirits adverse to happiness. All these pagan superstitions were retained in the Middle Ages, and many others were introduced, some of which continue to the present day in some European countries.

Green Forage.

The necessity of having a supply of green forage for soiling stock is every year becoming apparent. Rye, vetches, red clover, lucerne and maize may be used for this purpose with good effect. When rye is sown in the usual time in the fall, it yields a large supply of green food early in the spring, and is well adapted for forage for horses. When rye begins to form grain it is too ripe for fodder, and should be superseded by red clover or vetches. The latter make nutritious food for horses, cattle and hogs. Every farmer should have a few acres of them to come in succession. This can be done by having a few weeks between each sowing.

The Orchard.

The orchard demands attention in June, although amid the hurry and pressure of other work, it is sometimes forgotten at this time. Pruning should be attended to, as the present month is a good time for performing the operation, the wounds healing up quickly and the new wood soon commencing to cover them. The trees should be brought into proper shape by removing such branches as cross each other, or fill up the centre of the head and keep the sun from ripening the fruit. Some persons cut away the centre too much, thus exposing the lateral branches to the action of high winds and the direct rays of the sun. Between the extremes of pruning and non-pruning, a middle course is safest. Wounds made by the saw or knife should be coated with a solution of gum shellac; if this is not available, white paint may be substituted. When once brought into proper shape, trees may be kept so by pinching off the unnecessary shoots as fast as they appear.

Grapes.

Grape vines should be tied securely on their trellises to prevent them from being blown down by high wind. Cedar posts, with strong wire stretched horizontally on them, make the cheapest and best trellises, for the tendrils of the vines take hold on the wire and support the branches. As soon as the leaves expand predatory insects assail them. The smaller sorts of these should be destroyed by drenches of soap suds, lye, etc., the larger picked off by hand. Mildew is very destructive to the grape. It is said to be caused by an excess of carbonic acid gas, and as this cannot exist in a soil containing a sufficient quantity of potash, the disease may be prevented by applying such liquid or solid manures as contain this ingredient. Soap suds and wood ashes are specially adapted for applying in this case. Sulphur has been found very effective in preventing mildew.

Root Crops Among Corn.

To grow successfully 100 bushels of corn on two acres of land, the ground should be plowed in the fall, in coarse furrows, and left as light as possible without dragging or rolling, and should be stubble ground. This will give the frost a chance to kill, by freezing, the worms which have burrowed for the winter. In the spring plow fine, running the furrows a ways east and west. Mark out, or otherwise, the rows, running them north and south always. Cultivate as often as it will answer to do so—that is, as soon as grass or weeds begin to show much. Plant every other row in the field to cabbage, rutabagas or carrots. This will give a good circulation of air between the rows of corn. Beside the corn crop, a valuable supply of roots is thus grown for winter feed for cattle and horses. It costs but little more to raise from 100 to 125 bushels of corn to the acre than it does to grow ten or twenty, as usual. One hundred and twenty-five bushels have been grown to the acre, each alternate row being cabbage. The way to do it is, keep the soil light and loose, especially if a dry season, as land stirred draws moisture through the night. Never roll the ground for corn crops. A good free circulation of the sun and air is the life of the crop, and with the roots well covered the farmer will be richly paid. A farmer who once adopts the practice of planting his corn in north and south rows, with every row in small crops—potatoes, cabbage, carrots, ruta-bagas or parsnips—will never go back to the old way of all corn in the field and potatoes outside, and a few cabbage and other roots in small beds in the gardens. Such practice helps men to starve their stock for want of roots in the winter, and mortgage them in the spring to the lice, murrain and crows.

Profits of Pear Culture.

The following instances of the large profit of raising pears are gleaned from the proceedings of the Fruit Growers' Society of Western New York. Mr. George, of Victor, sold $24 worth of white doyenne pears from one tree eighteen years old. Mr. Finley, of Canandaigua, has three white doyenne pear trees, from which he sells the fruit for $50 or $60 yearly. Judge Howell has a white doyenne pear tree which has not failed in producing a good crop for forty years, and has averaged about twenty bushels a year, which have sold on the tree for $3 per bushel. This tree has produced for the New York market more than $4,000 worth of pears. Judge Taylor has three large trees of the same variety of pear, which, in some seasons, produce $150 worth of fruit.

Insects.

The predatory insects which are so destructive to the orchard and garden should now be assailed with every weapon of defense and offense. The tent caterpillars' nest should be collected and destroyed. The cocons picked out of their lurking places in the trunks of the apple, the peach and the quince. The cocoons of the apple-moths searched for in the crevices of the bark of the trees and other suspected places. Bark lice overwhelmed in deluges of strong lye, soda solutions or soap-suds; the curculios jarred from the plum trees; the pear and cherry slugs dusted off the foliage with dry ashes, or any other kind of dust. If the canker worms have evaded all the "tree protectors" and reached the leaves, a plentiful dusting with dry ashes applied while the dew is on, will dislodge them. The flea-beetle and striped bug may receive their quietus by the introduction of a few small chickens among the plants which they infest.

Weeds.

Moist days in June are the best time for eradicating troublesome weeds, such as the yellow dock, Canada thistle, burdock, mullien, etc. The roots should be dug up and exposed to the sun until they are dry, and then burnt. The yellow dock is propagated both by roots and seed, so are the Canada thistle, burdock, etc. They should be dug up before blossoming, so that there may be no chance for the seeds to fill. We have frequently seen Canada thistles ripen their seed although the plants were cut down when in blossom. They should not be allowed to grow on any part of the farm, as they are alike injurious to cereal crops, meadows and pastures. Some farmers are very particular about weeding tillage crops, but exceedingly careless about their meadows and pastures. Grass land should be kept as free from weeds as cereals and green crops.

Useful Herbs.

Every garden should have a collection of useful herbs. A small bed, or large tuft, of each will be sufficient for supplying the requirements of a large family. Sage and thyme are much prized for stuffing, seasoning, etc. Pennyroyal, peppermint and spearmint, sweet majorum and winter majorum, balm, basil, etc., are all more or less useful in various ways. Nearly all these plants may be propagated by cuttings or slips, and also from seed.

A Strange Story.

The New York correspondent of a St. Paul paper is responsible for the following remarkable story:

There is a young lady in this city by the name of Miss Mary A. Mills, who has set a worthy example to all her sex. She was born in Hartford, but lost her parents when quite young. By the kindness of friends she was sent to Ellingham Seminary, at Verdon, Ct., where she graduated over a year ago. She is a good Latin scholar, well versed in modern literature, and keeps books in double and single entry. She is twenty one years of age, and when she came out of school she was forced to support herself, but had a great aversion to New England factories. She came to New York a stranger, with nothing to help her except a few letters of introduction, expecting to take a clerkship in a store; but, upon investigation, she made up her mind that she was not calculated for the occupation, and came to the bold determination to establish a real estate and life insurance agency, and, I am happy to say, is meeting with that success which is so justly due her. The profits of her first years' business, which has just ended, is over $5,000. At present she has an estate of over $150,000 in her hands to settle. She is destined to make her mark among the business circles of this great city. The only fault I find in her is that she is a little extravagant in her living; but pass her name around, for she deserves praise.

Great Remedy for Consumption:

"I was reduced so low with consumption that I was unable to leave my bed, and my physicians informed me that they could do nothing more for me, my case being utterly hopeless, that I had not certainly over a month to live. At this stage I was induced to try REV. E. A. WILSON'S REMEDY, and to-day I am as well as any man in the world. If there are any who doubt this statement, they can call and see me, (as per above address) and I will give them all the particulars of my extraordinary recovery."

A NATIONAL MEDICINE.

One can hardly pick up a newspaper or turn a street corner now-a-days that he does not find, staring him in the face, the announcement that Prof. So-and-so has just discovered a medicine which is a panacea for all the ills that flesh is, or may be heir to. These "wonderful" discoveries usually have an existence of a few months, then disappear from public notice. The reason of their sudden extinguishment is apparent. They were humbugs. At the outset all medicinal preparations have an equal chance for success, as all are equally unknown; but the chaff is soon winnowed from the grain by the practical test which an unprejudiced public applies to all things. There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of the few which we have now in mind, and which has been a long time familiar to nearly every household in the land, is the celebrated HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their almost universal sale and use, and their emphatic endorsement by all portions of the country, compel the admission that they must be a specific for the ailments for which they are recommended. Letters before us attest their efficacy in diseases of the throat, bowels and liver, in that truly terrible complaint, dyspepsia, they are regarded as a sure cure. In Pittsburgh, where these Bitters are manufactured, their sale for home use is immense. This fact alone speaks volumes in their favor.—Extracts from the Muscatine (Iowa,) Courier, Feb. 7, 1867.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "it is prescribed in leucorrhea, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels. In chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affection, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap20

TOILET TRADE CARBON SOAP. WASHING MARK.

WARRANTED always uniform in quality, and made from the purest materials. If not satisfactory, the purchase money, in all cases, will cheerfully be refunded. Try it and be convinced.

The CARBON SOAP is made similar to that of most all other

Best Standard Soap,

But in addition there has been a new and valuable chemical compound added in the finish, by which all that hardness so peculiar to other soap is entirely removed. The coarsest as well as the finest fabric can be washed with it and remain soft and glossy as new. One pound is equal to three pounds of ordinary Soap. And here lies its chief excellence over all other soap; it is simple, requiring no extensive or complicated direction for using. For bathing purposes it is certainly a luxury, leaving the skin soft and healthy, and can be safely used in washing the tenderest infant. For all cleaning and cleansing purposes it is without a rival.

Believing it to be SUPERIOR, and that it will be duly appreciated by a discriminating public, I desire it to stand upon its merits alone.

It contains no PETROLEUM, or any foreign substance; nothing of the kind.

THE COURTS.

District Court.

Before Hon. H. W. Williams.

George H. Anderson vs. William McOwen. Action to recover the price of a quantity of leather sold to defendant. The defense set up was that the leather was of a bad quality. The Court held that inasmuch as the leather was purchased on inspection, and the purchaser presumed to know as much about the quality as the party selling, the plaintiff was entitled to recover. Verdict in favor of plaintiff for $187.03.

Wm. T. M'Clurg for use of Jas. M'Clurg vs. James F. Duncan. Action to recover one year's rent, six hundred dollars, for store room and cellar, No. 63 Wood street, with interest. Defense set up was that the premises had been occupied but a little over three months, and surrendered because the plaintiff had neglected to put the place in tenantable order; further, that the surrender of the premises had been accepted and payment made in full for the time they had been occupied. The lease was for fifteen months from December 18th, 1862, and the premises were given up on the 1st of April following, but suit was brought for the recovery of the year's rent. Verdict for plaintiff for $736.50.

W. A. McClurg vs. the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad. Plaintiff was a passenger on the railroad in September, 1865, and while occupying a seat, with his arm out of the car window, his elbow was struck by a coal car standing on a siding, a short distance west of Guffey's station. The arm was broken, and plaintiff was under surgical treatment for some five weeks. The action was brought for damages. Verdict in favor of plaintiff for $1,027.00.

Peter S. Weaver vs. steamboat "Nevada." Action to recover the value of a quantity of potatoes, eighty-one barrels, shipped to Louisville in November, 1864. The potatoes were frozen in transitu. On trial.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

This Court met Monday at ten o'clock, Hon. Thomas Mellon on the bench, Col. L. B. Duff, District Attorney.

VERDICT RENDERED.

In the case of Frank Ray, indicted for aggravated assault and battery, on oath of Mrs. Mary Crosland, tried on Friday last, the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," prosecutor to pay one-third and defendant two-thirds of the costs.

CHANGED HIS PLEA.

Henry Stinkle, of Allegheny, was arraigned on Friday last on three indictments, charging him with selling liquor to an intemperate person after notice, selling to minors, and selling on Sunday. The case was not concluded at the hour of adjournment, and when resumed yesterday defendant withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered that of guilty as to selling liquor to minors and on Sunday, and went to the jury on the charge of selling to an intemperate person. The jury acquitted, but required defendant to pay the costs.

SELLING LIQUOR TO INTEMPERATE PERSONS—CHANGE IN THE LAW.

In the trial of the above case against Stinkle, Judge Mellon, in his charge to the jury, referred to the change which had been made in the law. The indictment was under the old law and charged the selling of liquor to the husband of the prosecutrix contrary to notice from her not to do so. The offense was committed, if at all, before the passage of the new law, and therefore the old law was only applicable. It was in these words: "It shall be lawful for any member of the family, or any blood relative, of an intemperate person, or any overseer of the poor, or magistrate of the district in which the intemperate person resides or has a legal settlement, or the committee of a habitual drunkard, to give a distinct notice, verbal or written, to any inkeeper, &c., forbidding him or them from furnishing such intemperate person or habitual drunkard with intoxicating drinks or liquors, and if within three months after such notice, any one to whom the name is given, shall furnish, or cause to be furnished, intoxicating liquors, &c., to such intemperate person, etc., he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished accordingly."

The recent act, passed on the 17th of April last, is in these words:

"No person * * * shall, against the request of any wife, husband, parent or child, sell, give away, or dispose of, any strong or spirituous liquors, wines or ales, or beer, to the husband of any such wife, the wife of any such husband, parent of any such child, or child of any such parent, under penalty of all the fines and forfeitures of this act."

The difference in the phraseology of the acts will be perceived, but their object is the same. The difference, however, is very important as regards their application and efficacy. It was so difficult to obtain a conviction under the old law that it became a dead letter. Judge Mellon said he could not remember of a conviction under it. The questions raised under it were so numerous, and so much room existed for diversity of opinion concerning them, that a charge of the kind under consideration could scarcely be made out. Thus, what amounts to a distinct notice, whether the party was an intemperate person, and numerous other difficulties, were sufficient to prevent a conviction. Under the new law these difficulties are obviated. Its terms are more explicit. It puts it in the power of the relatives to forbid the liquor without reference to the previous or existing habits of the party as to temperance or intemperance. It takes away all question as to the formality of notice. It puts it fully in the power of such relatives to forbid and prevent the furnishing, or selling, or giving away of any intoxicating drinks to the forbidden co-relative and simplifies the process of notice and evidence in order to a conviction, so much so, that if resorted to it may tend to prevent, in a great measure, the furnishing of liquor to any parent or child, or husband or wife, whose co-relative chooses to forbid it. The penalties prescribed are very severe, and liability for all damages consequent—to be recovered in a civil suit against the eating house or tavern keeper, or his bail. Stinkle was acquitted, but required to pay the costs, as has already been stated.

A SOUTH PITTSBURGH CASE.

John Keown alias McCune and Jane, his wife, were arraigned on an indictment containing three counts, 1st, keeping a disorderly house; 2d, keeping a bawdy house; 3d, fortune telling. Nicholas Schwartz was the prosecutor. The parties reside in South Pittsburgh. For the prosecution evidence was first offered as to the character of the house, as to order. Mr. Schwartz testified to an unusual number of persons going backwards and forwards at all hours, and that the noise and confusion at times was so great that he was compelled to remove from the neighborhood. The subject of fortune-telling was next taken up, and upon this there was a very considerable amount of testimony, indicating a great degree of industry on the part of the prosecutor in hunting up witnesses. Young and old women and men, it seems, went to the house of the defendants to have their fortunes told, and were accommodated, Mrs. Keown using playing cards for the purpose. One lady said she had her fortune told about two years ago, and it was predicted among other things that she would marry her second husband within one year. Said the witness, "that was over two years ago, and my first husband is not dead yet." She had paid a "quarter" for the information. Another witness, a young man, said Mrs. Keown had told his fortune, told him a great deal about what had happened and what was to come to pass, some of which turned out to be true, but much of it was not true. He seemed to be biased, and being asked as to his relationship with the prosecutor, said his (the prosecutor's) husband's mother's brother was married to his (witness') cousin. The counsel in the case, J. W. Taylor for the Commonwealth and J. C. McCarthy for the defense, indulged in a considerable amount of "sparring," and departed from the rules of propriety and decorum, affording amusement to the crowd at the expense of the Court's dignity, to such an extent that Judge Mellon at length reproved the counsel, telling them they must "behave themselves" and cease their efforts to turn the court-room into a "bear-garden." Following this reproof the case progressed more smoothly and the crowd were cut short in their enjoyment of the ludicrous. The testimony for the defense, as to the character of the house, was all that could be desired, excepting that the fact could not be concealed that Mrs. Keown did "tell fortunes," and that frequent inquiries for the "fortune teller" caused annoyance to the neighbors. One of the witnesses testified that the Keowns were a highly respectable, orderly family, but admitted on cross-examination that when some persons came to his house to inquire for the "fortune teller" he closed his door in their faces, for the reason he said, in replying to a question by the Court, that he did not want to hear anything about such matters. Mrs. Blackstock, of Allegheny, was a witness for the defense; she had known the defendants for a long time as highly respectable people; had been employed in sewing at their house; did not know anything about fortune telling; had heard some talk, but that was not her business; could not say that she saw any fortunes told, and what she did not see she would not assume to know anything about. A young gentleman, who was very particular about the spelling of his name, (we omitted to get it) had been a frequent visitor at the house of the Keowns, in paying his addresses to one of the daughters; he remained on one occasion from seven to eleven o'clock, in the evening, "never once later," and did not consider four hours too long a time for a young man to remain in company with a young lady, to whom he was paying his addresses. The evidence was at length concluded and the respective advocates of the Keowns and Schwartzs made their speeches, after which the Court adjourned.

No. 12. West Penna. Hospital vs. Allegheny County Home. (Judge Hampton.)

Whipped His Wife.—Sarah Fletcher (colored) appeared before Alderman Taylor and made information against her husband, John Fletcher, charging him with assault and battery. She alleges that John has, on several occasions, ill-treated and abused her in a disgraceful manner, all of which she has submitted to, hoping to convince him of wrongs by "moral suasion," but he appeared to be getting worse, and on Sunday last he beat her shamefully, when she concluded to try something more forcible. A warrant was issued.

Served Him Right.—On Saturday morning last Duncan Dallas, the worthy and efficient market clerk of the Allegheny market, found at one of the butcher's stalls a quantity of meat which had been kept on hand too long, as it was considerably tainted. He caused the butcher to remove it immediately.

Seduction.—Alderman Lindsey, of the Sixth ward, issued a warrant for Alfred James Tate, on oath of Francis Adelia Reno, charging him with seduction and breach of promise. Tate was arrested and had a hearing yesterday, and was committed in default of three thousand dollars bail.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 137¼; Eighty-one bonds, 112; Five Twenties, 1862, 109¾; Five Twenties, 1864, 106; Five Twenties, 1865, 106½; 1865 Consols, 108¾; Seven Thirties, 106@105¾; Ten Forties, 99⅝; Michigan Southern Railroad, 68¼; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 76; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 98¾; Erie, 60⅝; Chicago and Rock Island, 89¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 34¾; do preferred, 58¾; New York Central, 101⅜; Reading, 105.

The gold market is very strong to-day, opening at 137¼, declining to 136⅞, advancing to 137¼, and closing firm at 137. There is no apparent cause for the advance, but a rather unfavorable bank statement at the close of last week. The official figures of our gold exports and shipments from California show but a light amount over export; but it must be remembered that large amounts of money are carried by the steerage and second cabin passengers going out to Europe either for health or pleasure, of which no account is taken. Those who spend larger sums generally avail themselves of drafts and letters of credit.

The bond market is higher on 1881's, 5-20s of 1864 and 1865 consols. Ten-forties remain stationary. Seven-thirties have improved ⅛ per cent. The share market is very high, and prices have nearly reached the average price in March after the recovery from the panic in February; the advance seems to be ascribed to the large payments of compounds which are held by the people instead of the banks, as was supposed. Money very active at advanced rates.

The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House, for the week ending Saturday, June 8th:

	Exchanges.	Balances.

Totals	$1,683,401 96	$359,247 38

—There is some trouble about Quartz Hill Gold Company. It appears that the Company have commenced a suit against John Leighton and others, charging them, as directors of the Company, of colluding together and increasing the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000, without the consent of the stockholders and against the law, and praying that the increased stock may be declared spurious. The Court has granted an injunction restraining any sale or transfer of such stock.

—The contraction of the currency during the month of May was $1,037,960 in greenbacks, $4,744,270 in compounds—making a total of $5,782,230. The gold bearing debt has been increased $61,440,600, while the debt bearing currency interest has been reduced only $43,261,895. From this it would appear that the amount of currency on hand has been increased over $18,000,000 by the sale of Five Twenties.

—The New York Times thinks the State and town debts of New York State "will very likely swell to at least $140,000,000, or about $35 each for every inhabitant of the State. If other States show similar exhibits, it follows that their aggregate obligations must come up to $700,000,000 or $800,000,000, which, with the National figures, will make the trifling sum of about $3,300,000,000, or more than $100 for each man, woman and child, white, black or red, in the Union in 1860."

—The Danbury, Conn., National Bank has declared a semi-annual 6 per cent. dividend. This bank has averaged in the past 23 years 8¾ per cent. dividends yearly, with an extra one of 11¾ in 1854, or nearly 212 per cent. in all.

—Within two months the United States Treasurer will be called upon to cash over forty millions of his promises to pay. This maturing paper is classified as follows: June 15, Seven Thirty coupons, 8 millions; July 15, Seven Thirty coupons, 7 millions; June 10 and July 15, compound interest notes, 26 millions.

—The Comptroller of the Currency at times finds himself very seriously troubled by the law which obliges national banks to have a witness in all cases present at the burning of their mutilated notes. He frequently wishes to burn twenty or thirty different lots at once. A seperate witness must, nevertheless, be present for each bank.

—The August Seven Thirties, says the Bank Note Reporter, should all be funded or sold before July 1st, for these reasons: During June the Five Twenty bond got for them has the gold coupon. On the 1st of July this advantage, worth $10 on every $1000, will be lost, and the Seven Thirties will fall fully one per cent. On the 16th of August they will be worth only their face. Now the bonds can be had at the time of parting with the note. In July, and for the first fifteen days of August, it is not likely that the bonds will be ready for delivery at the time of funding.

—Between May 1 and June 1, according to reports from Washington, the Secretary of the Treasury increased his issues of Five Twenties sixty [illegible] in same time thirty-seven millions of Seven Thirties; one million compound interest notes; one million demand notes and two millions gold certificates. In May he also increased his currency balance [illegible].

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 8.—The wool market [illegible] very quiet during the past week; buyers have been few and far between, and when induced to take hold by a little concessions on the part of holders, they have operated only to the extent of present requirements. The [illegible] inducements to buy ahead in the present condition of the goods market, or [illegible] inducements not to buy ahead, and it seems probable that the present wool season will close without any [illegible] or reaction in values, such as has occurred at the corresponding period of several years past.

As regards the present condition of the manufacturing interest, we may say that the spring trade in goods is over, and the fall trade has no prospect of starting up until after the crops are matured. Manufacturers have gone on accumulating their products as long as they dare to, and the present policy is that of restriction and curtailment. None of the woolen mills are working up their full capacity; some large establishments have entirely suspended, and the balance are generally running but a part of their machinery, or, what amounts to the same thing, on one-third or one-half time. Hence, very little wool is going into consumption at the present time; and as it is very uncertain when, or under what circumstances, the requirements of consumption will be materially enhanced, it is no wonder that the wool market is depressed, or that there is a general lack of confidence in the future course of trade.

As regards the new clip, there is very little speculation and no anxiety on the part of buyers. It will not be wanted and hence will not be bought up in a hurry. Manufacturers are not in a condition, financially or commercially, to enter the field as purchasers; and speculators have the recollection of past losses too vividly impressed upon their minds to repeat the errors of the last wool season. From present appearances there will be very little competition among country buyers, at least during the early stages of the season, and the market must evidently open at low rates in order to attract customers—probably at a range of 40@50c per pound, or an average of 20 per cent. below last year's prices. There is no movement as yet to indicate the feeling among growers, though a few straggling lots of new Ohio wool have been consigned to the Eastern markets on growers' account.

Sales of domestic for the week have been quite moderate, and foot up some 400,000 lbs, at a range of 42@70c per pound for fleece, and 30@[illegible] for the various grades of pulled.—Bulletin.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, June 10, 1866. }

The general markets continue excessively dull and depressed, and what is worse still, there is no prospect at present of any immediate improvement. As the impression prevails, and there is good reason for it, too, that prices for many articles must go still lower, buyers, both dealers and consumers, are restricting their purchases to the lowest possible limit.

GRAIN—There is nothing doing in Wheat, and so far as we can learn, the same is true of Barley. Oats dull and tending downward; sale of 124 bush, on wharf, at 65—small sales in store at 70 to 72c. Rye is dull and lower—may be quoted nominally at $1,40@1,45. Corn, also, is dull and lower, and may now be quoted at 86@90c for prime shelled—sale of 300 bushels at 85c.

FLOUR—There is no improvement in the demand, and while the market is dull and weak, prices are nominally unchanged. We continue to quote at $12¼@12¾ for good to choice Spring Wheat, $13¾ to $14¼ for Winter Wheat.

PROVISIONS—The demand for Bacon is hardly so active, but prices remain unchanged—9½ for Shoulders; 11½c for Ribbed, and 12½ for Clear Sides; and 16½ to 16 for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 13 for prime kettle rendered. Dried Beef, 23 plain, and 24c, for canvassed. Mess Pork, $22,50@23.

POTATOES—The demand is less active, and while the market is a little dull, prices remain unchanged—sales of prime Peach Blows, in store, at $1,35@1,40.

EGGS—Scarce, and in active demand, and prices have advanced, and we now quote at 21@22c—one house sold 30 barrels, to arrive, at 21c.

BUTTER—There is but very little inquiry for Butter, and there is hardly enough doing to establish quotations. We now quote nominally at 15@17c for prime Roll.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged—may be quoted at 14c for Western Reserve, and 15@16c for Hamburg and Factory.

SALT—Is very dull and tending downward. We quote nominally at $2,30, on track, and $2,40 delivered.

OIL—Lard Oil is quiet and unchanged—85@86c for No. 2, and $1,06@1,07 for No. 1.

DRIED FRUIT—Is dull and neglected, with a drooping tendency. Small sales at 6½@7½c for Apples, and 9@12 for Peaches.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, June 10, 1866. }

CRUDE—The operations were large to-day, the sales reaching over twenty thousand barrels, in the aggregate, but the market nevertheless is weak, and these sales, generally speaking, were brought about by holders making concessions. We can report sales of 1000 barrels, on spot, at 6½c; 800 do do at 6⅛c; 5000 bbls, all the year 1868, buyer's option, at 12c; 10,000 bbls to be delivered between June 10th, 1867, and December 31st, 1868, buyer's option, on private terms; 2000 bbls for all year 1867, buyer's option, at 8c; 4000 bbls for July at 7½c, and 200 bbls "Smith's Ferry (43 gallon barrels) at $2,90 per barrel. Private telegrams from Oil City to-day quote at $2,40 per barrel, and the impression prevails that it will go still lower.

REFINED—There was not a single operation in bonded oil to-day, at least we had none reported; and while the market continues dull, weak and unsettled, prices remain nominally unchanged. Prime light straw to white would bring 21¼, for immediate delivery in Philadelphia, and standard white would doubtless bring 22¼, but there are few, if any sellers at these figures, and it is probable that our refiners, instead of manufacturing, will buy contracts east to fill their forward engagements.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly at this point with four and a half feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. The weather yesterday was clear and pleasant, and all that could possibly have been desired for the transaction of out-door business.

Private advices report the mountain steamer Ida Stockdale as having been at Fort Sully on the 19th of May. On the 17th she met a rise of two feet. The Ida, it will be remembered, was built here last winter by our townsman, Capt. J. T. Stockdale, expressly for the Upper Missouri trade.

The stage of water at Oil City yesterday, as reported by telegraph, was twenty-five inches.

Charles Lorenz, an old Pittsburgh steamboatman, but who has been engaged on the lower trade for some time past, is in the city at present, having come up on the Armadillo.

The Keokuk was to have left for St. Louis last evening, but we are unable to announce her departure certainly. She is intended to run on the Upper Mississippi as a kind of ferry boat in connection with some of the Western Railroads.

The Allegheny River packets in consequence of low water, have been compelled to go into summer quarters, there to remain, doubtless, until towards fall. These boats, we are glad to learn, have made a little money during the season, though, as a matter of course, their returns have not been anything like what they were during the last three or four years. This may be accounted for in part by the dullness in the oil business, which has had a tendency to restrict travel and freights, as well as to the general dullness which prevails in all departments of trade.

The Monongahela river packets, it is said, are doing a fair business, and the Peoples' Line of boats, between here and Brownsville, it is claimed, have made a little money. This Company now runs but one boat, the Chieftan, while its rival, the "Old Line," are running three or four.

The Julia No. 2 and Armadillo, from Cincinnati, have arrived. The former had a moderate trip, while the latter boat came up almost flying light. These are hard times on steamboats, and some of them, we suspect, will soon be hunting the "bone yard," and as low water and dog days are near at hand, it is probably the best thing some of them can do.

The Kate Putnam, Capt. J. H. Lightner, with Mr. J. D. Young in the office, will positively leave for St. Louis to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. The Bellevernon, Capt. Darragh, is next in turn, and will at once commence receiving freight.

The Argosy, from Cincinnati, was due here last night, and will return on Wednesday as usual, leaving at noon.

There is some talk about sending the Ida Rees No. 1 to St. Louis to load for Fort Sully. She is now at Cincinnati.

The Columbia, Capt. Geo. W. Reed, with Messrs. Russell and Splane in the office, is an announced for Cincinnati and Louisville.

Morris Dorsey, well-known here, was clerk of the St. Marys when she exploded. The New Orleans Times says this gentleman seems to be peculiarly unfortunate in steamboating, he having been in command of the ill-fated steamboat Como, recently burned on Trinity River, Texas.

Geo. W. Girdon, and Jas. McMurchy, United States local inspectors of steamers at Galena, have published a report of the investigation into the steamer Lansing explosion, and are of the opinion that the cause or causes of the explosion of the boilers was produced by a scarcity of water in the boilers at the time of the explosion, and by an overpressure of steam, and that the engineer, John C. Cromley, was negligent and inattentive to his duties, and thereupon revoked his license.

The Dubuque Times, of the 6th says: Logs form a considerable portion of the rafts which pass here daily. W. Dorr, with a raft of ten strings, left for St. Louis. The conference between Messrs. Davidson and Wellington, of the Norwestern line, and Captains Rhodes and Buford, of the Northern line, resulted in an amicable adjustment of the difference which have arisen this season. Mr. Wellington will retain the agency of both companies in this city. The Phil. Sheridan will continue making trips between Dubuque and St. Louis, as there is no other work she can do just now.

The Louisville Courier is responsible for the following:

RAILROAD IRON SLIDING THE FALLS.—The famous towboat Rover, with an appreciative Captain, came in from Pittsburgh yesterday, with a heavy tow of railroad iron, four barges with one thousand tons or more, all for Saint Louis. He landed at Jeffersonville with his tow of five barges, the fifth being laden with coal for fuel, and wouldn't budge an inch until he got the falls pilot, Pink Varble, on board to steer the fleet through safe. It was a very close fit, or tight squeeze to get through the chute, but Pink could do it, and took all at once, like a string of onions, in a row, and electrified the Captain by the success of the feat, who telegraphed right back to Pittsburgh that the falls of Louisville are all oil, and that Pink Varble was the slickest pilot he ever saw actually sliding boat and barges over the rocks, down through the chute, as easy as sliding on greased ways or an inclined plane.

The same paper also states: The towboats A. J. Baker and Boaz are expected to arrive from below, and will have quick dispatch as above. Their tows are at the foot of the falls, all ready for a move. This leaves a light stock of coal afloat on hand.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would [illegible] lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening, and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of [illegible] chest. The signs or symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator cannot fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, and if the worn out material be carried off, and renewing material of a proper character, must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and disease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good a nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 18 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief or the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and could gradually feel myself getting stronger and my cough and expectoration lessening, have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE which I took in connection with the other treatment. GEORGE FORD.

PITTSBURGH, March 20, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunk en away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.

PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
